WHAT IS FORWARD HEAD POSTURE

What is Forward Head Posture? Forward Head Posture (FHP) is the anterior positioning of the cervical spine. It is a posture problem that is caused by several factors including sleeping with the head elevated too high, extended use of computers, lack of developed back muscle strength and lack of nutrients such as calcium. FHP is what may be causing your neck and back pain. FHP is what Dr. Kernes c...

What We Have Learned About At-Risk Readers1. They require a personal introduction to good books.2. We need to begin with what they are willing to read before moving them forward to what we would like them to read.3. They do better with a narrowed choice of books.4. Having an entire book read aloud (or listening to it on tape) motivates them to read.5. Seeing the movie first does not deter them fr...
